Notes for Task 7

- Covid led to an increase in remote working and a decrease in human connectivity.
- There has been a large growth in E-Commerce since the start of the pandemic.
- 88% of Australian workers would like to work from home at least partially
- 60%of Australian workers would prefer a hybrid work arrangement with days in both the office and at home.
- some population groups in particular, such as caregivers or people living with illnesses may benefit from more flexible work arrangements
- 33% of employers had implemented automation or new technology during the pandemic
-